

Fellow Spirit Pilots,

One of the most important steps in PBS implementation is fast approaching...PBS Domicile Training! As previously communicated, our PBS Trainers and the SPA JPWG will be available for seven days, in each location, from January 14th through January 20th, from the hours of 9am through 5pm daily.

The purpose of this training is to allow each Spirit Pilot to ask direct, personalized questions regarding the specifics of their desired PBS bid outcome and the makeup of their bid sheet. Our trainers will be able to provide one on one service assisting in the creation of your first bid, and discussing the various bid strategies that will lead to success and satisfaction with your eventual PBS line award.

Pilots should come to this training already having a basic understanding of how to log in and navigate through the NavBlue N-PBS website. You should have read all training materials already provided by the JPWG on the SPA PBS Resource website, as well as viewed the PBS web presentation hosted by the SPA JPWG on January 11th. Our trainers will not have time at this event to walk you through the basics contained in each of these individual training materials, and showing up prepared will greatly enhance the quality of your own individual training.

The JPWG will be hosting a live web presentation and walkthrough of the NavBlue N-PBS website on January 11th at 2pm EST. The presentation will be archived on the SPA PBS Resource section of the MEC website for those that are unable to tune in live. We will have a separate communication in the coming days with a web link and directions to join the presentation.

Our PBS Trainers and the SPA JPWG are available to answer your PBS bidding questions anytime. You can contact the trainers at SPAPBSHelp@alpa.org, and the SPA JPWG can be reached at SPAJPWG@alpa.org.

We look forward to meeting you all at one of our domicile training events!

Fraternally,

Scott Vallach
