ALPA PILOTS' SAFETY GUIDE

In the U.S. and Canada, you are not legally compelled to give a statement without representation to a regulatory authority or any other public authority concerning an aircraft incident or accident. Therefore, ALPA recommends that you make no statements and accomplish the following, if possible:

1. Keep the crew together.
2. Obtain rest facilities for ALL crewmembers away from the airport.
3. Make no statements about the nature of the difficulty.
4. Refer to the back of the ALPA membership card for your rights of representation.

Accident investigation procedures vary greatly around the world. If you have an accident outside the U.S. or Canada, call the Hotline number immediately and follow the above steps to the extent possible.
